New and Improved Lusty EMS Goes Live

Lusty EMS has always claimed to be at "The forefront of trailer technology", and as of today, can now also lay claim to being at "The forefront of online trailer websites" with the launch of the new Lusty EMS website at www.lustyems.com.au.

The comprehensive website has been built on principles of user-friendly navigation with accessible easy to find resources and information for both new and existing customers.

Catering for those who require detailed product specifications and images, a full catalogue of Lusty EMS trailers has been made available in easy to download PDF format. Everything from semi-tippers, Stag B-Doubles, Moving Floors, Body and Dogs plus many more products is available for download.

Users can also keep up to date with all the latest Lusty EMS news including new product developments and customer testimonials and, as part of ensuring our ongoing commitment to our loyal customers, the website will soon provide access to service bulletins for major components such as suspensions, axles and hydraulics.

For busy operators and transport managers, the website also provides an "Info Request" function that allows users to ask for specific details with a timely response ensured from their nearest Lusty EMS dealer.

Live and available for viewing today, the new and improved website can be viewed at www.lustyems.com.au.
