

New sales facility for Somerton

Hamelex White are pleased to announce that from the middle of April they will have a full sales facility conveniently located on the Hume Highway in Somerton to cater for the expanding business in the area.

Paul Ferbrache, who has extensive knowledge of the truck and trailer industry is in charge of the branch, says Hamelex White are committed to providing complete coverage and service offerings to their valued client base.

"We already have our Hallam facility providing excellent service to customers in Victoria and we wanted to extend that coverage even further with this new location," says Paul.

"Hamelex White have a long and proud tradition in the Victorian market and we want to meet the demands of all our customers. Most of our competitors are based in the one location, so this move gives us the ability to be more responsive to our customers needs."

"I look forward to meeting our local customers over the next few weeks and working with them closely on how we can provide them with outstanding service."

The facility will look after sales of new and used bulk haulage equipment and will have on display and ready for sale the full range of Hamelex White manufactured aluminium and steel semi trailers, three and four axle dogs and B-Double combinations.
